2013 SEC MEN'S GOLF CHAMPIONSHIPS

April 19-21

Seaside Course – Sea Island Golf Club

St. Simons Island, Ga.

Par 70

This marks the 13th year for the Southeastern Conference Championship to be contested on the Sea Island Golf Club's Seaside Course. The SEC has conducted its annual championship on St. Simons Island since 2001 (Seaside Course 2001-2007, 2010-2012; Frederica Golf Club 2008-2009). Since 1927, the Sea Island Golf Club has enjoyed a legacy as one of America's premier golf clubs.

Rated No. 1 in the U.S. among the "World's 50 Best Golf Hotels" by Golf Digest Index, Sea Island Golf Club offers three exceptional 18-hole championship courses. The Seaside Course, home to the PGA TOUR's McGladrey Classic, is a links course graced by majestic ocean vistas in the tradition of St. Andrews.

The Seaside Course was totally reconfigured by Tom Fazio and reopened in October 1999. The new Seaside Course is the brilliant blending of Colt & Allison's original nine-hole Seaside and Joe Lee's Marshside nine into one seamless, contemporary 18-hole golf course. Tidal creeks, dunes, saltmarshes and St. Simons Sound frame the course which plays fast, firm and fun in the tradition of legendary Scottish links.

The course will play a par-70 at 6,898 yards.

The SEC Men's Golf Championship has been played at Sea Island since 2001, with Georgia winning five of the 12 championships. Florida and Alabama have won twice, while Auburn, Kentucky and Tennessee have each won one conference tournament title during that time.

The Alabama Crimson Tide won the 2012 championship, holding off second-place Auburn on the final day to win by six strokes.
